

WHEN UNEMPLOYMENT HIT... WE SUPPORTED A CANDIDATE TO GET BACK ON TRACK

A CASE STUDY ON HOW TO STAND OUT FROM THE CROWD

Dan was shocked to be made redundant in July due to COVID-19

'I decided to contact Garry Howling from Public Practice Recruitment Ltd immediately and not wait for the economic situation to get worse.'

'I would without a doubt recommend Garry to my friends and colleagues. Garry is approachable, he keeps you updated and puts candidates forward for interview very quickly, which I can't say from my experience with other consultants.'

'I think this is testament to my new employer's commitment to investing in people, even with these uncertain times.'

'Thanks for all your help, thanks to you I was only unemployed for one week!'
A case study from Dan, one of our satisfied candidates

'Garry was very knowledgeable and had several roles which suited my skill set. In no time at all an interview was set up through Zoom with the prospective employer, within 24 hours of talking to Garry.'

For online interviews...'My advice would be to make sure your background is clear and neutral so that the interviewers can focus on your answers and wait until the interviewer finishes their questions before you reply, as there can be a delay on a video call.'

Dan's offer of employment was received less than a week after he was made redundant. And even better than that his offer included study support for his CTA qualification!
